THE DIEFENDOLLAR

YEAR	COLLECTION	CATALOGUER	PLACE	AUCT or F.P.	CONDITION	PRICE	REMARKS

Canadian Election Produced A New Diefendollar

Some Toronto Progressive Conservatives slapped back with a 1965 version of the famous Diefendollar brought out by the Liberals in the 1962 election campaign.

Bert Campton, of Queen Street, E., distributed some of the new dollars when John Diefenbaker dropped in on the headquarters of High Park PC candidate, William Whiteacre during the recent Canadian federal election.

"Those are worth $4 apiece now," quipped Mr. Diefenbaker when he was handed one.

"Oh, those aren't the ones the Grits put out - I want the ones the Grits put out." he added on recognizing the new version.

The famous Diefendollar printed by the Liberals had hit at the devaluation of the Canadian dollar by the Diefenbaker government.

The new PC printing said: "A 100 per cent stable Canadian Dollar."

On the reverse side, it said: "Do You Remember The Big Liberal Lie? When the Government devalued and pegged the Canadian dollar at 92.5 cents, the Liberals tried to fool the people with:

'Cost of Living is going to increase' - Lester Pearson.

'Too great a burden for the common man' - Paul Martin.

"What Is The Truth?

'Canada achieved the best record of price stability among all major industrial countries' - President J.F. Kennedy.

'Devaluation has provided a powerful force contributing to a better external balance, increased production and more employment' - Mercantile Bank of Canada, November, 1962."

The J. O. P. Silver Dollar

by Larry Gingras

For more than twenty years Canadian silver dollars bearing the counterstamp J. O. P. have puzzled many collectors. To some, these coins seem mutilated and should be worth no more than face value. Nevertheless, for citizens of Nelson, British Columbia, who possess such a coin it brings back warm memories of a wonderful personality. Indeed, they tend to cherish their J. O. P. dollars in the same way that youngsters revere the autographed likeness of a favourite singing star, or in which you and I might retain a keepsake from someone we had known and loved.

Now the counterstamping of coins is nothing new, but who was J. O. P.? Why did he counterstamp coins, and select only Canadian silver dollars for this purpose? The answers to these questions I learned during a recent stay in his home community.

In Nelson, B.C., Joseph Oliva Patenaude used to own a flourishing jewellery business on Baker Street. Being somewhat of a perfectionist, [illegible] optometry.

Being a kindly man without rancour, Mr. Patenaude did everything in his power to support the silver industry which had been so unkind to him, since he knew it to be [illegible] necessary for the future of his fellows. He believed that the introduction of a silver dollar into Canadian current money would require the production of more silver which, in turn, should benefit the many regional silver mines. Patenaude became imbued with a strong desire to fulfil this dream. Happily, he seems to have been supported by influential friends in his persistent campaign for a Canadian silver dollar. When their efforts were rewarded with success in 1935, he experienced a deep sense of satisfaction in the knowledge of purpose achieved, and service rendered. So great was his joy that he ordered one thousand of the new silver dollars, counterstamped them with his own initials and then saw that they were distributed among the people of Nelson. Given out as change to customers of his store for many years, these pieces furthered Patenaude's personal campaign in favour of more silver cash. In addition, each coin bore a counterstamp for the same reason that one tags wildfowl — to assist in following their circulation.

Bank employees will verify that Mr. Patenaude continued this practice for many years, though there appears to be some difference of opinion as to the last year in which he counterstamped silver dollars. I have seen them marked with his initials (just under the canoe) up to and including 1947, and know of their appearance on others dated 1948 and 1949. So far no case has come to my attention of the counterstamp being found on a silver dollar dated later than 1949; we must assume, then, that he discontinued the practice in 1950, upon selling his optometry business and going into retirement.

At least two different types of counterstamp are found on these dollars. One shows three separate initials which may have been made the proper authorities immediately; he was that kind of man. One is bound to agree with them. Certainly, no gentleman of his character and integrity would deliberately violate the law, only to turn around and advertise the action as Mr. Patenaude did with his initials.

Joseph Oliva Patenaude passed away on May 9, 1956, at the age of eighty-five — and they laid him to rest in the community he had loved and served so well, — Nelson, British Columbia.

Canadian Dollars Counterstamped "JOP"

By STARR GILMORE

ONE OF THE greatest episodes in Canadian numismatic history centers about these coins. For 20 years they remained a mystery, and what is stranger still, there is no particular reason why they should have been any mystery at all.

Almost at the very beginning of my collecting career I encountered one of them and my curiosity was immediately aroused. The dealer who sold me the coin, now deceased, apparently never noticed that it was counterstamped, or if he did, certainly told me nothing about it. And as the situation later developed, even had he wished to do so, it would have been impossible. In any event, I paid the full price for it which was current at that time. The coin concerned was a Newfoundland JOP.

As might be supposed, I lost no time instituting inquiries about my counterstamped acquisition. One person who should have known better tried to tell me that it was the work of the Mint, a thing which I was wise enough not to believe. My rather numerous inquiries always ended up against a blank wall and I finally concluded that it was no coin which properly belonged in a collection. And having reached this conclusion, it finally came about that I sold it for face value, an action which I now sincerely regret.

According to Irene Burd, an article on the JOP dollars appeared in the Winnipeg Tribune some time in 1947. Vaguely hopeful, I wrote to the Tribune and received the answer that it would be impossible to locate such an article unless much more definite information could be given. However, knowing what I now do, it is doubtful if the piece in question could have been much more than fruitless speculation which would have been of no value. Still, I shall always wonder about it.

Irene Burd, formerly of Winnipeg, purchased a 1947 Blunt JOP from a dealer in the city mentioned for $3.00 because he considered it to be a mutilated coin. Further, she was advised to fill the markings in with silver, a thing not very easy to do. However, he informed her that he had successfully filled in a second coin of the same kind.

A 1948 JOP was picked up in Seattle about five years ago by James Riley and it was sold to him by Frances Mills, a dealer of the [illegible] much for the future of this metal. He and several other Nelson citizens backed Mr. French and the outcome of the situation was a bitter legal battle during the 1920's which ended in victory for powerful mining interests. And unluckily for Patenaude, the prolonged ligitation ended a great deal of his bank account.

Patenaude had excellent reasons for his strong bias toward silver.

[illegible] there may be years which saw none stamped at all.

Worthy of note is the fact that the JOP's are counterstamped in two different ways. The far commoner sort would appear to be his initials stamped in an oval and combined as one punch. The other type, and the one which came to my attention on the Newfoundland piece, is stamped with three separate and such a price. It was purely a piece of luck and nothing else. As it is, Spokane has at least two specimens.

A few words about Nelson may be in order. This town of 7,200 is a short distance over the border and slightly under 200 miles from Spokane. Located on the south side [illegible] far greater task on his hands than I would care to undertake.

Already indicated is the fact that a fair number of these dollars are in the hands of Nelson citizens. Some may inquire, if they are such cherished items, as to their manner of getting into circulation? There is certainly no mystery about this. No doubt a number of persons would have, or did have, four or five of [illegible] by Edmond Chartier, another citizen of French origin.

So ends the strange story of the marked dollars that were so long a puzzle. Without at all intending to do so, Patenaude wrote an unforgettable chapter in the history of Canadian numismatics. And it is only just that his memory should be

by Starr-Gilmore from his Canadian Silver Dollars.

One of the strangest episodes in Canadian numismatic history centres about J.O.P. dollars, one of which [illegible] deceased, apparently never noticed that it was counterstamped, or if he did, certainly told me nothing about known better tried to tell me that it was the work of the Mint, a thing which I was wise enough not to believe. My rather numerous enquiries always ended up against a blank wall and I finally concluded that it was no coin which properly belonged in a collection.

Joseph Olivia Patenaude owned at one time an excellent business in jewellery on Baker Street in Nelson, British Columbia. Being diligent and [illegible] was a natural interest in seeing where they would go in circulation. That they certainly went far and wide not knowingly violate the coinage statutes. Happily, as it now turns out, he was never challenged on this point.

50,000 People Jam Elmira To Sample Syrup, Rural Life

By KEN DOLL
Record Staff Writer

ELMIRA — The Elmira Maple Syrup Festival proved again this year that thousands of people can help charities and have fun doing it.

Each year the crowds attending the festival grow.

Saturday, an estimated 50,000 people visited the town for the day-long festival. Crowds began gathering on the downtown mall about 8 a.m. and did not begin to disperse until after 5 p.m.

The mall was choked with people from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. two hours longer than last year when an estimated 25,000 to 35,000 people attended the event.

Officials of the festival don't agree on what is the biggest attraction and are amazed when so many turn out.

People crowded around the many food and craft booths on the mall.

People crowded into the Elmira district secondary school gymnasium to look at the host of crafts, paintings, antiques and hobby displays of exhibitors.

People crowded around the farm of Ezra (Old MacDonald) Brubacher just east of town to look at a typical farm with its domesticated animals.

And people packed into buses to six area sugar bushes to see how maple syrup is made.

The Waterloo county bus tour of historic landmarks in the Elmira area proved popular again this year.

Food for the crowds was no problem. People had a wide choice. The various booths served hot dogs, sausage dogs with sauerkraut, beef burgers, home-made baking, shoo fly pie, chili and bacon burgers plus six pancake booths, an increase of two from last year.

Eldon Hoffer, secretary-treasurer of the festival committee, said receipts to date from sales of tickets, booth space rentals and donations total $18,300. He said it will be months before all the money comes in and all the bills are paid but the festival will likely net about $1,000 more this year. About $6,000 was earned for local charities last year.

Publicity chairman Elwood Groh said one of the main problems now is manpower. He said all available people from the town and district are assisting with the festival. If it keeps growing the way it has, getting more help will be difficult.

He said people came to the festival from as far as Chicago and Detroit.

Mr. Groh will recommend to the committee that improvements could still be made in pancake serving and the public address system.

Only about 25 to 35 per cent of the visitors want pancakes he said, but if everybody wanted them, they couldn't get them. A problem of syrup supply came up again this year and he attributed this to the poor sap run so far.

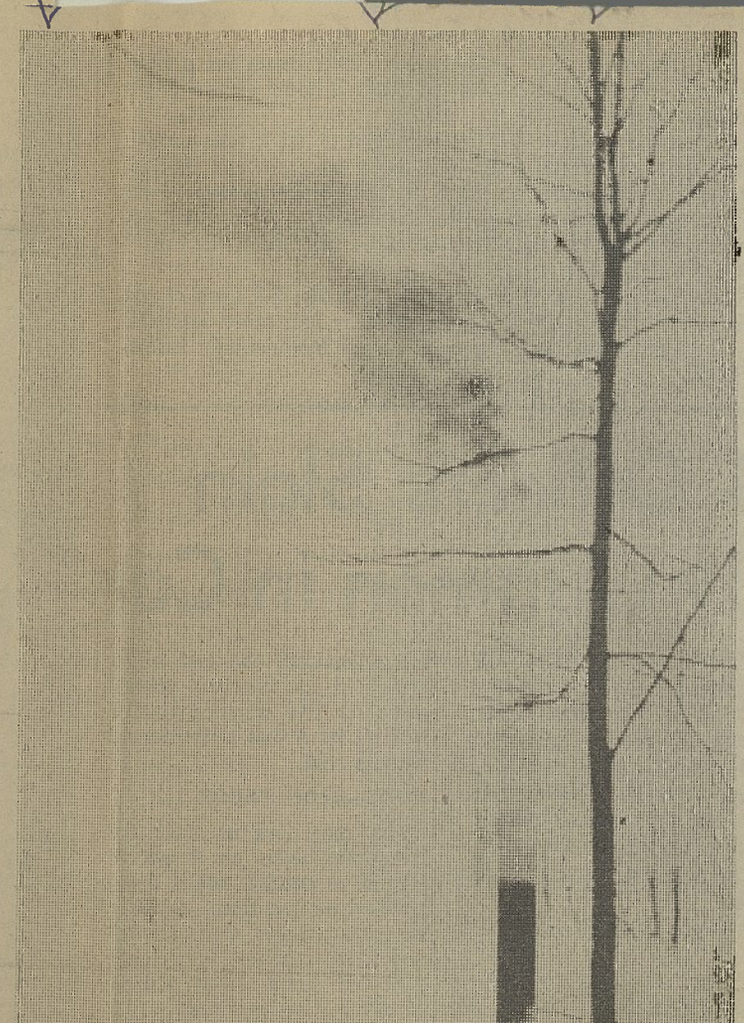

CNR officials were overwhelmed by the demand for train service to the festival.

T. D. (Don) Mellon, CNR branch manager, passenger sales, said 2,200 people were taken to the festival Saturday by the Sugar Bush Express sponsored by the Twin Cities Kiwanis Club. About 2,000 were expected to take the train. Last year 1,190 went to Elmira on three scheduled runs.

An additional train run was announced for this year but the demand was so great, Mr. Mellon said, he decided on a fifth run.

All seats were taken for the 9 a.m. express, but even standing room was crowded on the 11:15 a.m. train. Of the five return trips, the 5 p.m. express was the most jammed with people standing in all seven coaches for the 45-minute journey.

The train robbers appeared on cue for the two early trains and stopped them at St. Jacobs.

A trip to the sugar bush was a must for many festival visitors.

The robbers, young members of the Breslau Holiday Ranch riding school, rode up and down the train shooting their firearms. They finally boarded but some of them were forced to take the train ride to Elmira, when the engineer apparently overpowered his cover and started away.

The holdup was also planned by the Kiwanians.

About 180 travel-trailers arrived in Elmira Friday night and were directed to pre-serviced parking areas for the weekend. The trailer owners were mostly members of clubs in cities of Ontario, New York and Michigan.

A special train with more than 500 Sarnia people arrived about noon. Most of the people had booked space months in advance. The train departed about 6 p.m.

Traffic on Highway 85 was backed up for hours from Elmira to St. Jacobs. Cars were parked on Highway 86 east of the town for about a mile.

Elmira police, assisted by 13 auxiliary policemen from Elmira and Kitchener, were able to keep up to the flow of traffic into town. Cars were parked in every available spot.

Police Chief John Campbell said 19 complaints were received.

Sausage dogs were popular with the youngsters (left), and the unique New Dundee German Band (centre) played before large audiences, but top festival attraction was pancakes and maple syrup (right).

YEAR	COLLECTION	CATALOGUER	PLACE	AUCT. OR F.P.	CONDITION	PRICE	REMARKS
	(A)						ON THE OBVERSE IS THE INSCRIPTION "CANADIAN GATEWAY TO THE THOUSAND ISLANDS", AND AN ILLUSTRATION OF THE GATEWAYS WHICH HAVE BEEN ERECTED ON EACH SIDE OF THE COMMUNITY OF GANANOQUE ON THE MAIN HIGHWAY. THE REVERSE BEARS THE INSCRIPTION "CANADIAN WOODEN NICKEL – 5 – SOUVENIR". THEY WERE MADE OF ASH BY MASTER CRAFT WOOD PRODUCTS LIMITED, KITCHENER, ONT. THE METHOD OF CIRCULATION WAS FOR THE MERCHANTS TO BUY 100, 500 OR 1000 OF THESE TOKENS FROM THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE AT 5¢ EACH. TOURISTS ON MAKING THEIR PURCHASES IN THE VARIOUS STORES, IF THERE IS ANY SMALL CHANGE COMING BACK TO THEM, ARE OFFERED THESE TOKENS IN PLACE OF MONEY, AND IT IS EXPLAINED TO THEM THAT THEY ARE GOOD FOR 5¢ IN ANY OF THE GANANOQUE STORES. THE MAJORITY OF THEM ARE NATURALLY RETAINED AS SOUVENIRS, THEREBY NETTING THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE A NICE SUM OF MONEY, AND AT THE SAME TIME ADVERTISING GANANOQUE.
